These internships present a unique opportunity for students and emerging professionals to dive deep into experiential learning that is directly tied to their academic pursuits or future career paths. However, the uniqueness of these opportunities is further amplified by the exposure to varied cultural and professional settings, offering a broader perspective on their field of interest.

Our organization is deeply committed to facilitating these enriching experiences by meticulously pairing vocational high school students across a diverse spectrum of specialties with enterprises and organizations that not only match their evolving career aspirations but also support their individual development needs. We aim to foster the development of well-rounded, culturally astute individuals who are not only equipped with a robust set of professional skills but are also prepared to navigate and excel in a globalized workforce. By ensuring that participants emerge from these internships with a blend of professional competence and a deep appreciation for cultural diversity, we contribute to shaping individuals who are ready to make meaningful contributions in their respective fields and to society at large, embracing the challenges and opportunities of an interconnected world.

STUDENT MOBILITY

Our company proudly promotes the services we offer for the activities described under the Erasmus+ School Education mobility. Students can participate in the following mobility activities:

- Group mobility for school students (2 to 30 days with at least two students per group)
- Short-term learning mobility for students (10 to 29 days)
- Long-term learning mobility for students (30 to 365 days)

In addition to physical mobility, all student mobility activities can be blended with virtual activities. The specified minimum and maximum durations are applicable to the physical mobility component.

The implemented activities must meet the following qualitative requirements:

Group Mobility for School Students: A group of students from the sending school can dedicate time to learning together with their peers in another country. The sending school should design the learning activities in collaboration with a partner school in the host country. Teachers or other qualified educational staff from the sending school must accompany the students throughout the activity duration and guide their learning processes. If necessary, other adults can also act as chaperones to support the accompanying teachers.

Short-term Learning Mobility for Students: Students can spend time abroad studying at a partner school or interning at another relevant organization. An individual learning program must be defined for each participant. Mobility can be organized for a minimum of 2 days, especially for participants with fewer opportunities, provided there is justification.

Long-term Learning Mobility for Students: Students can spend time abroad to study at a partner school or intern at another relevant organization. An individual learning program must be defined for each participant. Pre-mobility training is mandatory for all participants, and additional grants will be provided for institutional and language support.

CULTURAL ACTIVITIES

In the context of Erasmus+ KA1 mobility projects, the incorporation of cultural activities and excursions is not merely an addition to the academic or professional learning objectives; it is a vital component that enriches the educational journey of participants. These culturally immersive experiences offer a multifaceted understanding of the host country, enabling participants to delve deeper into the local way of life beyond surface-level observations.

The significance of these activities lies in their ability to serve as a conduit for understanding and appreciating the rich tapestry of cultures, traditions, and historical narratives that define the host country. By actively engaging in cultural tours that may include visits to museums, art galleries, and historical landmarks, participants are provided with a panoramic view of the country's heritage. Such tours often reveal the historical evolution of the area, highlighting how past events have shaped current societal norms and values.

These experiential learning opportunities are invaluable in developing a comprehensive understanding of the societal values and lifestyles of the people in the host country. Participants are exposed to different perspectives and ways of life, which challenges preconceived notions and broadens their worldview. This exposure is crucial in cultivating cultural awareness, a key outcome of the Erasmus+ KA1 mobility projects.
